[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Danville, Va., March 11.—One of the most beautiful functions of the pre-Lenten season was the reception which Mrs. Herbert Martin gave Tuesday afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock at her attractive home on West Main Street. As a compliment to her attractive house guest, Miss Theodosia Gray of Williamsburg, N. C., the lovely home of Mrs. Martin, which is suitably adapted for an entertainment of this sort, was a charming setting for the guests entertained. Greeting the callers at the front door were Misses Elizabeth Martin, Katherine Gray and Martha Fitzgerald, who received the cards. Refreshments in the hall were Miss Maude Phippen and Mrs. B. F. Jefferson, who introduced them to the receiving party in the parlor, which included Mrs. Herbert Martin, Miss Theodosia Gray, Miss Katie Fitzgerald, Mrs. T. B. Fitzgerald and Miss Ruth Martin. Mrs. Martin wore an afternoon gown of white silk, crepe trimmed in pearls and hand-embroidery. Miss Gray, the guest of honor, is a striking brunette, was becomingly covered in blue chiffon embroidered in pink roses.

The house was artistically decorated in spring flowers. Brass baskets containing bouquets, were placed at intervals about the room, while brass candelabra contained pale yellow candles with satin shades of the same color. The table was covered with a white cloth, and the four corners of the table were cut glass candelabra, with yellow shades, which were decorated with bouquets of yellow tulips. Tall vases on the mantel and buffet contained fragrant yellow spring flowers and the dining room were Mrs. Geo. Robinson and Mrs. J. Fitzgerald, and assisting were Misses Margaret Fitzgerald, Miss Katie Fitzgerald, Missie Wilson and Pearl Patterson. From the dining room the guests were ushered into the hall by Mrs. H. H. Fitzgerald, where orange ice was served by Mrs. H. H. Fitzgerald and Mrs. C. A. Adams, of Williamsburg. During the afternoon the Virginia Stringed Band furnished music behind a row of palms.

Miss Theodosia Gray entertained quite a number of friends at the residence of Mrs. Herbert Martin Tuesday evening at "progressive hearts." The house was decorated with a profusion of spring flowers, the prevailing color being yellow. The people were Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Fitzgerald and Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson. There were quite a number of tables, and the scores were kept on cards containing hand-printed jingles. After the game it was found that highest score had been made by Lee Wilson, who was awarded the prize. About 100 guests were present.

John Nunn entertained Wednesday afternoon at her home on Main Street from 4 until 6 o'clock in honor of her sister, Mrs. M. M. Whitley, of Atlanta, Ga., who is now her charming guest. The entertainment was given with bright lights, fragrant spring blossoms, stately palms and ferns and presented a charming scene. From the dining room the guests were ushered into the hall by Mrs. H. H. Fitzgerald, where orange ice was served by Mrs. H. H. Fitzgerald and Mrs. C. A. Adams, of Williamsburg. During the afternoon the Virginia Stringed Band furnished music behind a row of palms.
